Notable features:

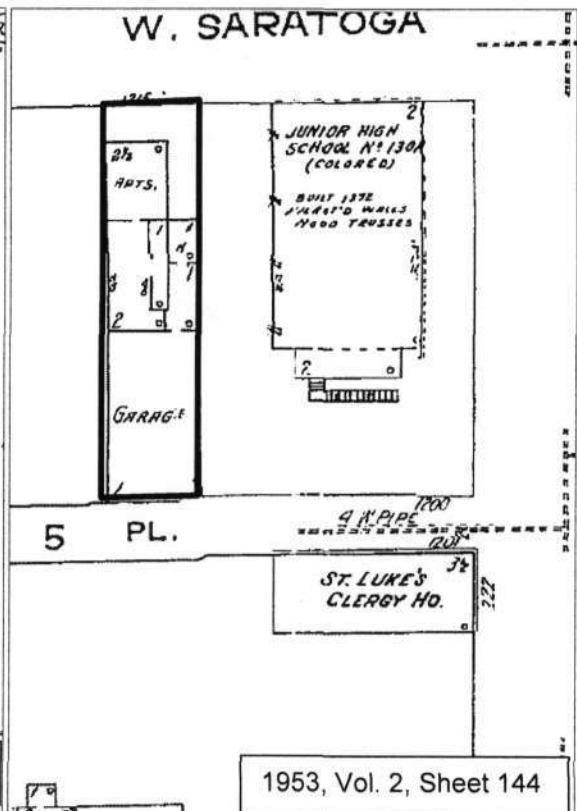

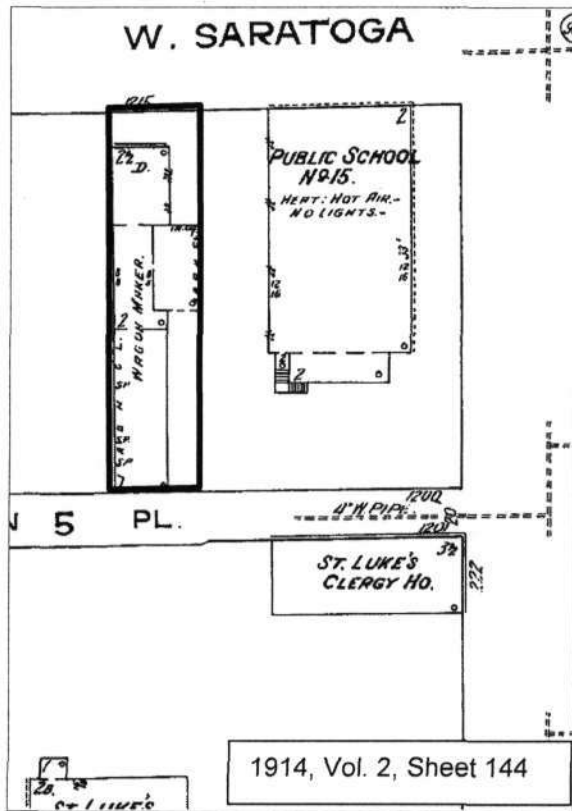

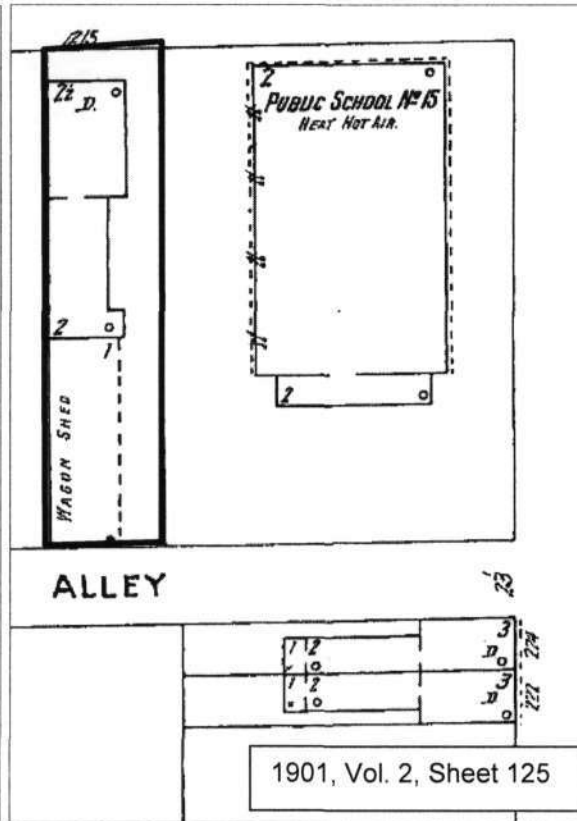

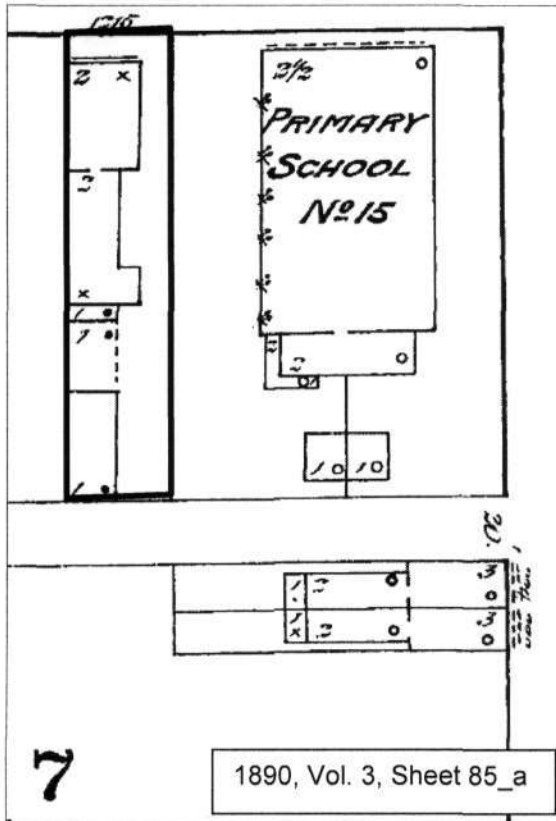

The 1851 map shows a building set back from Saratoga Street at this point in the block. The gable roof, promenade porch, double dormers on the back, and extended back building of this house would also suggest an early date. The house is formstoned but in good condition. Cast iron fence may be original, as is probably the stone wall which runs all the way back to Rankin Place. This building should be retained, preferably with the formstone removed.

Environmental context:

Situated on a busy two-way street where street trees are needed; isolated by Hebrew Cemetery to west and old schoolyard to east. The form and scale of the structure are strong enough to stand alone.
